

7th March 2023

Dear Parents/Carers,

This week (w/c 6th March 2023) is National Careers week. It follows on from National Apprenticeship week last month.

In school, students will have assemblies based around careers education at the Piggott, different careers pathways open to them and local labour market information. The assemblies will be adjusted for each year group. A year 7 student might want to know different information compared to a year 13 student!

In tutor time, students will guess jobs their teachers have had in the past. It will be signposted where they can find additional information about careers and they will complete a survey asking them about how they find the careers provision at the Piggott and how we can develop it over the next few years.

Parents/carers may find the guide below to be a useful resource when looking at careers and talking with your child about careers.
